PROBING MURDER OF MRS. BAILEY

Husband, Daughter and Mother Summoned by Grand Jury.

SIGNING OF WAIVERS

District Attorney Satisfied Doctor Carman Has Not Told Truth Concerning Killing of Woman.

New York, July 14.—With the corridors and walks around the little gray concrete courthouse at Mineola jammed with a curious throng, the Nassau county grand jury today began its investigation of the murder of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey, who was shot to death in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman, of Freeport, June 30.

William D. Bailey, husband of the slain woman; Mrs. Jennie Duryea, her mother, nad Madeline Bailey, her nineteen-year-old daughter, were the first witnesses summoned by District Attorney Lewis J. Smith.

District Attorney Smith called the dead woman's relatives to establish the movements of the victim on the day of the murder.

Dr. Edwin Carman, it now appears certain, will be requested to sign a waiver of immunity before he is permitted to appear before the grand jury.

Mrs. Tod Powell, Mrs. Carman's sister, may also be asked to sign a similar waiver before she is called before the grand jury. These statements are mad on the authority of the district attorney, who is convinced that Dr. Carman has not told him the truth in regard to the shooting of Mrs. Louise Bailey in his office on the night of June 30.

When the district attorney lays the case against Mrs. Carman before the grand jury he will also request that she be permitted to testify. This is a question which the jurors alone have the authority to pass upon, and Mr. Smith will make no recommendations either for or against the telling of her story by the physician's wife.

Significance was attached to this remark, made by the district attorney:

"In any event, Mrs. Carman will not be allowed to go before the grand jury until Celia Coleman, the colored maid, has testified."

This arrangement, taken together with the semi-official statements that Celia is likely to prove the "star" witness of the prosecution, is construed here to mean that Smith believes the story of the girl will be as convincing that no damage can be done the people's case b ythe appearance of Mrs. Carman.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A dispatch from Oran, Algeria, says: "Under the influence of an overpowering hallucination that Arabs were about to capture them, Capt. Gouze, of the Second Regiment, Foreign Legion, shot and killed his wife and three children as they slept and then committed suicide.

The industrial depression has has struck Wilmington, Del., with vigor. It was announced yesterday by officials of the Harlan & Hollingsworth Corporation that 1,000 workmen have been discharged during the past few weeks. In addition, the Pennsylvania Railroad shops and the plant of the American Car and Foundry Company have placed their employes on reduced wages. The repair shops of the Pullman Car Company have also begun reducing their force.

A militant suffragette bomb exploded yesterday in the historic Roslyn chapel seven miles from Edinburgh, but caused only trifling damage. The chapel was founded in 1446 by William St. Clair, third earl of Orkney and Lord of Roslyn, and is probably the finest specimen of Gothic architecture in Scotland. In the vaults were buried all the old barons of Roslyn in complete armor.

Charles B. Plitt, Charles Becker's press agent in the days when the police lieutenant headed the "strong arm" squad, is in Albany, asserting he is working in behalf of Becker, now in the condemned cell at Sing Sing for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler and informer. Plitt says he is going to see a representative of District Attorney Whitman tomorrow and try to get Mr. Whitman to intercede with Governor Glynn to save Becker's life in return for graft evidence implicating the men "higher up," who, it is said, received some of the tribute extorted by Becker from gambling houses and other disreputable resorts.

The authorities of Johnstown, Pa., were notified yesterday of the death at Barnesboro, Pa., of Thomas Cuchran, aged 8, as the result of a burglar trap. A. W. Lawson, a merchant, who had been robbed recently, so placed a loaded shotgun that when a door leading from the cellar to the store was opened the gun would be discharged. The boy's body was found just outside the door with a heavy charge of shot in his lungs.

Because Mrs. Nickola Rostata strenuously objected when Mike Shanahan, official dog catcher, of Williamsport, Pa., attempted to put the untagged Rostata pet dog into the cage of his wagon and take it the city pound, Shanahan forced the woman into the cage and hauled her about the streets for hours.

Following the hottest day of the year, a tornado struck Shenandoah, Iowa, late Sunday night. Trees were uprooted, store fronts blown in, roofs torn off and a blacksmith shop upset. The cupola was torn off the Congregational Church and a large stone of the Catholic Church crashed to the street. Crops were seriously damaged.

Rost Carson, a negress, was taken Sunday from the jail at Sloree, near Orangeburg, S. C., and lynched by a mob of 200 white men. She is said to have confessed to killing the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Bell. The child was beaten to death with a stick of wood

Dr. Horald H. Steere was shot and killed in his office in Chicago last night by Anton Truskowski, a former patient, who who then shot himself, dying in a few minutes. In Truskowski's pockets, the police found receipts showing he had paid the physician and his partner $435 since last October.

Three members of the summer colony at Bolmar, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Brewer and Mrs. Norton, were drowned while bathing in the ocean yesterday afternoon.

Simone Planetta, a peasant of the village of Camerata Cornello, Italy, yesterday killed seven persons, including a doctor and a priest. He took refuge in the mountains, where carabineers are hunting him.

PETITION FILED WITH GOVERNOR

HALF OF TOTAL VOTE

Election For or Against Prohibition September 22—Both Sides Confident of Success.

Richmond, July 14.—Secretary of the Commonwealth B. O. James this morning certified to Governor Henry C. Stuart that 69,936 qualified voters have petitioned for the holding of an election on the question of State-wide prohibtion, in accordance with the terms of what is known as the enabling act. Certificates from court clerks all over the State poured into the office of the secretary yesterday, the last day under the act for the receipt of such petitions. Under the law the Governor has ten days in which to consider the petition, and in which time any parties desiring to question its accuracy may come forward. He will then call the election for September 22, and if a majority of the voters of the State are for prohibtion at that time, the State is to go dry on and after November 1, 1916.

There are no exact figures available as to the total qualified vote in Virginia at this time, but it is believed to be close to 150,000. It will be seen therefore that nearly one-half of the entire electorate has joined in petioning for the State-wide election. While no direct statements were issued by either side last night, both preferring to await the formal presentation of the certificate to the Governor, the figures were variously construed. Anti-saloon leaders are confident that by no means all who will vote dry have been secured as signers of petitions, and as the petitions were circulated by dry men exclusively, it is contended that all signers may be counted for that side. Officers of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia would venture no figures, but other dry leaders held that out of a vote of 150,000 the dry side should poll from 90,000 to 100,000.

On the other hand, the leaders of the fight for local option as the State's method of regulating the liquor situation are not disposed to concede that all of the signers will vote dry. There are many, they claim, who would sign a petition and have an election to settle a question that has been agitating Virginia for years, but when the election comes expect to vote for local option, just as there were men in the General Assembly who voted for the enabling act, because they desired to let the people of the State vote on the issue, but who expect to cast their personal votes against State-wide prohibition assert that the dry side has put its best foot foremost—that the petitions represent approximately its maximum strength, and that in an election in which from 150,000 to 160,000 votes are cast, the local option side will have the advantage.

Tomorrow will be observed by members of the Woman's Prohibiton League of America as a day of fasting and prayer for State-wide prohibition, and services will be conducted by the different leagues through out the State.

SPECIAL BEAUTY CONTEST.

Holy Name Band Renders Fine Program.

The Moose excursion to Marshall Hall yesterday notwithstanding the cloudy weather and downpour of rain again yesterday afternoon, was well attended. About nine hundred from the two cities made the trip.

In the beauty contest which was the principal event of the day, honors came to Miss Cora Loretta Barnhouse as the most most beautiful girl of Alexandria to whom was presented a handsome gold handle umbrella, and to Miss Edna Elizabeth Eaton, as the most beautiful girl of Washington.

Prizes were also donated by Messrs. R. E. Knight and Son and Preston G. Cockey.

An order was awarded for a large panel and one dozen cabinet photographs, both of which selctions met with the general approval of everyone, judging from the applause when the young ladies received their prizes.

Most of the athletic events were postopend owing to the weather.

The Holy Name Band discoursed beautiful music in the entire afternoon and evening, and also on the return boat.

Duringt he storm the Alexandria Musical Association Band did not make the trip.

Considering the weather the day was much enjoyed, and in all the excursion was a decided success.

MURDERED ON DOORSTEP

Man Came From His House and Deliberately Shot the Woman Next Door.

Philadelphia, July 14.—As the sequel to a neighborhood quarrel, Louis Deveraux, 55 years old, of No. 2811 Ann street, shot and killed Mrs. Anna Lukens, 28 years old, his next-door neghbor, last evening, as she sat on the doorstep in front of her home No. 2809 Ann street, Deveraux, according to the police, came out of his front door, and, pointing the revolver at the woman, fired two shots. Both bullets lodged in Mrs. Lukens' head and she died half an hour later in the Episcopal Hospital, wthout regaining consciousness.

The shooting aroused the residents of Ann street to a high pitch of excitement. Because of the heat last evening occupants of nearly every dwelling along the street were seated in front of ther homes, when Deveraux appeared with the revolver and commenced firing. Women and children fled, screaming, into the houses.

KILLED BY WOMAN.

Rasputin, Famous Monk, Adviser of Czar, Stabbed by Unknown Peasant.

St. Petersburg, July 14.—The famous monk, Gregory Rasputin, known as the Richelieu of Russia, the victim of a murderous attack in his native Siberian village of Pekrovsky, where he was paying a short visit to his wife and famly, is dead.

While talking in the street to a number of people, a woman suddenly rushed forward and struck him with a dagger, inflicting a severe wound in the abdomen. The monk was taken immediately to a hospital. The woman, who belongs to the peasant class, was arrested, but refused to give her name. At the police station she declared:

"I wished to remove from this world that false and infamous prophet, who has led so many people astray, and who has falsely instructed the Czar on countless questions."

Don't forget to be in attendance at the big baseball game tomorrow afternoon at the Alexandria ball park, when the two Masonic baseball teams clash in a mighty effort to heap honors upon themselves and to aid the Alexandria Hospital. The proceeds of the game will be turned over to the building committee of the hospital. The enthusiasm over the game is growing intense, particularly over the fact that German Schaffer and Altrock, of the Nationals, will act as umpires. A number of the Washington players will be in attendance during the final stages of the game, coming direct in automobiles after the regular game with Detroit has been played. The admission is only 25 cents. Come out and enjoy the sport and at the same time do a good turn for the hospital.

IRVINE RIDDLES SLEMP PLATFORM

RIDING TWO HORSES

Broadside Delivered by Democratic Candidate Into Present Republican Congressman.

Bristol, Va., July 14.—In an interview here, R. Tate Irvine, the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Ninth District, gave his views on the nominations made by the Republican and Progressive conventions here last Thursday. He said:

"The nomination of Mr. Slemp and his acceptance was expected by every one. Had the two conventions combined on a strong Progressive, Senator Noel, or Dr. Daugherty, we Democrats would have had a heavier fight than now; now Slemp was right in trying to prevent his nomination. It would have been better for him to have been allowed to retire voluntarily than to be forced into retirement at the polls. His re-election in this district is impossible. His record is purely that of a reactionary and a standpatter. This district is strongly Progressive. Roosevelt's vote was much larger than Taft's in 1912. Mr. Slemp realized that with his record as a Taft-Canno-Pierce Republican, he could not hope yet the Progressive vote of this Republican district, and that even with this vote his election would be extremely doubtful.

"The fact that some of the Progressive leaders deserted and joined the Republicans will cut but little figure with the electorate. Mr. Rose, as the nominee of the Progressive convention, will get a respectable vote, but I believe if that party had made no nomination I would have gotten more Progresive votes than Mr. Slemp. I will get many as it is. The Democratic party, under President Wilson's superb leadership, is giving the country an administration that should satisfy every man of true progressive principles.

"Mr. Slemp's platform is a thing o fshreds and patches, the weakest and most barefaced effort I have ever known to ride at the same time two horses going in opposite directions. Mr. Slemp, with all his acrobatic agility, cannot do this."

CITY COUNCIL.

Lower Board to Meet Tonight But Aldermen Will Not Assemble.

At the last meeting of the City Council a resolution was passed by the Board of Aldermen providing that when the two bodies adjourned it be to meet on the first day of September, when the new Council will organize.

The resolution did not pass the lower board, but the Aldermen adhered to their action, and when the board adjourned it was with the understanding there would be no more meetings during the summer unless by the call of the president after five members shall have requested a meeting. No applications for a meeting having been received by President Marbury, and there will be no meeting of the Board of Aldermen tonight.

A majority of the Common Council expressed a wish at the last meeting to defer concurring with the action of the Aldermen until tonight, and the lower board may concur in the action of the upper branch at this meeting.

Mr. King has had a long and varied experience in the State militia, having at one time served as captain of Company A, First Regiment, of Richmond.

The anniversary sale now being conducted at Bendheim & Sons, is attracting widespread attention, judging from the crowded condition of the store since yesterday morning, when the sale opened. During this sale articles in every department are being sacrificed. Right now is the time to lay in a half year's supply of drygoods and wearing apparel when it can be bought at such ridiculously low prices. The entire stock must be reduced before the fall season arrives and the buying public is given the advantage.

The Palace Automobile Co., Inc., is the latest addition to the auto industry of the city. In addition to handling the celebrated Oldsmobile, the new company has inaugurated an auto livery. The livery is equipped with large, comfortable seven-passenger automobiles, which can be hired by the hour, day or week. Touring cars for country trips, weddings, theatre and tourist parties and trips to surrounding towns will be one of the special features. The prices will be very reasonable and within the reach of all. The readers of the Gazette are urged to read their advertisement, found elsewhere in this issue.

Hugo Herfurth, who was fined fifteen dollars in the Police Court last week for selling fire works in this city July 3 and 4, and who took an appeal to the Corporation Court, has paid the fine and abandoned the appeal.

It was stated yesterday that the late George W. Harrison left a widow. This was a mistake. His wife died about twenty years ago. He is survived by three children.

The roof of the warehouse at the southwest corner of King and West streets collapsed last night. The building is owned by Gordon Thomas and has been used by Peter J. Pullman.

A corner's jury, which met at 6 o'clock yesterday evening to investigate the death of a colored youth named John Henry Warren, who was electrocuted Saturday afternoon while playing ball, returned a verdict of accidental death.

MONKEY ATTACKS CHILD.

Boy Bitten Four Times as he Hands Coin to Animal.

Philadelphia, July 14.—As he was about to hand a coin to a monkey which an organ grinder was exhibiting in front of his house last night, George Fendall, 8 years old, of No. 750 Vincent street, Germantown, was bitten three times on the right leg by the animal. The boy was sent to the Germantown Hospital.

Vera Cruz, July 14.—With the gap in the railroad outside Vera Cruz repaired, so that a through train from Mexico City may be run to this port, it was confidently expected here that General Huerta and his family would arrive late today or tomor-

CARRANZA AWAITS HUERTA'S FLIGHT

Rebel General Will Attack City as Soon as Dictator Leaves.

DEFIANT ATTITUDE

United States May Assume Responsibility for Safety of Foreigners Now in Mexican Capitol.

Washington, July 14.—Mexico City is to fall before the onslaught of armed constitutionalists, it was feared today. Carranza's defiant attitude makes any other solution impossible, unless a marked change occurs in forty-eight hours. As a result, the United States will be forced to assume responsibility for what the immediate future holds for not alone the Mexicans themselves, but for the hundreds of other nationals marooned there.

Carranza and his generals, through Consul Silliman, have notified the United States that the very letter of the plan of Guadaloupe must be carried out.

Carranza has gone to Tampico, where he can easily take steamer to Vera Cruz and proceed to the capital when Huerta flees. The rebel forces are converging against the city from the east, west, and north. The stage is fully set for the last act. Whether this will be a peaceful and unconditional surrender by the governing forces, or a last mad struggle against the inevitable, cannot now be forecast.

According to a telegram from the Brazilian Minister in Mexico City, sent to the State Department, Huerta will retire either today or tomorrow in favor of Foreign Minister Francisco Carbajal. The State Department believes the dictator and his personal friends will immediately flee to Puerto Mexico, and there take refuge on the British cruiser Bristol.

South American diplomats who know Huerta think otherwise. If he does retire, and they will believe that only when it is an accomplished fact, they assert that he will probably insist on remaining in Mexico until the very end, even though in so doing it may mean forfeiture of his life.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

French Invention Carries Light Waves Just as Telephone Does Sound.

Paris, July 14.—An invention for transmitting sight by wire, just as sound is transmitted by telephone, was described to the French Academy of Science by Professor Gabriel Lippman, who read a paper on the remarkable instrument designed by George Rignoux, and by him called the telephota.

Roughly outlined, the process consists of throwing a powerful light upon the object to be transmitted. This light falls on a disc composed of solemnium cells. An electric current is passed through the cells, which correspond to the points of light on the object. These are collected by a rotary cylinder and then transmitted by wire and reproduced by mirrors on a screen at the other end.

COMMITTEE ENDORSES PLAN.

Residents of Alexandria County Take Issue With Georgetown Merchants.

The executive committee of the Alexandria County Service Association met at Clarendon last night to consider the question of a commercial bridge to connect the county with the District of Columbia, and the committee went on record as heartily indorsing the plan to extend Washington at or near Twenty-fifth street, thereby placing Clarendon and other points on the two electric lines ten or fifteen minutes nearer the heart of the city, avoiding the change of cars at Thirty-sixth street and the ride through the narrow streets of Georgetown.

It was denied that the construction of the bridge at this point would injure business in Georgetown or inconvenience patrons of the electric lines, for since the rapid building up of Alexandria county and the establishment of first-class stores, much of the business that formerly went to Georgetown is now kept in the county.

The claim was made that it was within the power of the State corporation commission to refuse to allow passenger trains to leave the State over the reported unsafe Aqueduct Bridge, and if speedy action was not taken the cars of the Washington and Old Dominion Railway might be forced to seek another entrance, possibly by building a spur track and going in by the Highway Bridge.

It was decided to send representatives to the mass meeting in Georgetown when the retention of Aqueduct Bridge is to be urged, and while it was not stated that the Georgetown merchants would be boycotted, the association desires to know just how they stand.

President W. W. Malone introduced a resolution commending the efforts of Representative C. C. Carlin, to promote the welfare of his constituents, which was unanimously adopted. "Mr. Carlin is without doubt Virginia's leading representative in Congress," said Mr. Malone, "and the good work he has done and is doing will keep him in Congress as long as he will stand for re-election. His efforts to improve labor conditions truly stamps him as a man of the people and for the people."

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Department Responds to Two Alarms at Early Hour This Morning.

About one o'clock this morning the fire department was summoned to the south side of Madison street, between Columbus and Alfred, where a blaze had been discovered in a house. The fire was under the roof, and although hard to reach, the firemen after some labor supposed they had quenched it. About four o'clock a still alarm call came to the engine house to send a hose wagon to the place, as the fire had broken out again. Upon the arrival of the wagon it was seen that the services of the steam engines were needed. Five of the houses have been built under one tin roof, and the fire had spread to all of them, although there is a fire wall in the row.

It took some time to effectually extinguish the fire, but not before considerable damage had been done the houses.

MIDNIGHT OBSEQUIES

Large Attendance at Christ Church Witness Funeral Services of W. G. Le Hew.

Christ Church was crowded to its fullest capacity at midnight last night by an audience anxious to witness the Scotish Rite Masonic funeral services for William G. Le Hew, who died Saturday night. Attending were members of the Masonic fraternity, railroad employes, friends and relatives of the deceased, together with a number of thirty-third degree Masons.

The services were conducted by the officers of Robert De Bruce Council, Knights Kadosh, of Washington, for the officers of the local branch of Scottish Rite bodies. The Washingtonians returned home on a special train immediately following the services.

The body of the deceased was shipped this morning to Strausburg, for burial.

At the conclusion of the Masonic services benediction was pronounced by Rev. William J. Morton.

The floral offerings were numerous, among them being a pretty design from the thirty-third degree Masons.

Members old Old Dominion Commandery, No. 11, Knights Templar, acted as an escort to the remains at the church and also served as such this morning. Pallbearers will be officers of the Strausburg Masonic Lodge.

A special from Vera Cruz to the New York American says: "President Huerta apparently is praying for a 'psychological reverse' on the world. Americans in Mexico City say the dictator was greatly annoyed by the calling of a special meeting of the Senate on Saturday evening and declared he had no intention of resigning. He is now threatening banks which refused to accept his fiat money, as well as many foreign business men behind the banks. Persons arriving here state that Huerta was shot at twice on Tuesday morning in Propopotla, a suburb of Mexico City, one bullet passing through the hood of his car.

SUSPECT IS RELEASED

The circumstances in connection with the arrest of James Hill, a young, colored man, on suspicion of assaulting and robbing Albert Holzl, a Russian, in the extreme northeastern section of the city, about 12 o'clock Saturday night, were given in yesterday's Gazette. Holzl, who has been lodging in an ark in that neighborhood, started in that direction Saturday night and later cries of "robber" were heard.

Holzl subsequently notified the police that he had been struck by an unknown man, two teeth knocked out and $200 taken from his person. The Russian gave the best description he could of his assailant, and on Sunday Officer Norris arrested James Hill on suspicion of being the guilty party. He was searched, but no money could be found on his person or at his home. Holzl was positive the officers had the right man, although Hill protested his innocence and appealed to his previous record. He was, however, on the evidence of Holzl, held for the action of the Grand Jury, in the Police Court yesterday, and he wept as he was being conducted to a cell.

Officers Bell and Talbot were in the extreme northeastern section of the city Saturday night and heard cries coming from the vicinity of the place where Holzl alleged he had been waylaid and obbed, but supposed they emanated from hilarity among colored people. Ten minutes later a negro named Cooper Williams came along panting as though he had been running. The officers stopped him and asked what caused his perturbation. Williams said he had been running in order to reach his home. Winter Crupper was present at the time, and he, with the officers, surveyed the darkey closely.

After Hill had been ordered to be held for the Grand Jury Officer Bell became convinced that a mistake had been made by Holzl in the identification of Hill as his assailant, and went on a trail after Williams and yesterday afternoon he and Officer Kern arrested the negro. He had $9 in his pockets, when it was known early Saturday night he had borrowed a quarter from a colored woman. It was discovered that he had bought a suit of clothes in Washington yesterday morning, been measured for another and left $5 deposit on the latter.

Upon being further searched seven twenty-dollar notes were found in his socks, making in all $140. He claimed that the money belonged to him and that it represented his savings. His explanations, however, were conflicting and unsatisfactory, and he was locked up.

Williams was brought before the Police Court this morning. Holzl was positive he was the man who struck and robbed him. Williams is darker than Hill, but of the same build.

The prisoner repeated the stories he told the police to the effect that he came to this city from South Carolina last February and had saved part of his earnings. When asked if he was paid off in twenty-dollar bills, he alleged he had worked for the Southern Railway before he came here.

The accused was held for the gran djury and Hill was ordered ot be released.

COURT NOTES.

In the Corporation Court today in the case of Harry Hampler, charged with shooting in the street and wounding a colored woman named Jefferson, arguments were heard by Judge Barley from Messrs. R. L. C. Moncure and L. N. Duffey, to set aside verdict of jury S. G. Brent, Commonwealths Attorney, represented the prosecution. The judge took the case under consideration.

The cases of Leslie Irwin and Fred Reh, also charged with disorderly conduct at the time the woman was shot, were continued until September 29, and they gave bail for their appearance.

Cured of Indigestion.

Mrs. Sadie McClawson, Indiana, Pa., was bothered with indigestion. "My stomach pained me night and day," she writes. "I would feel bloated and have headache and belching after eating. I also suffered from constipation. My daughter had used Chamberlain's Tablets and they did her so much good that she gave me a few doses of them and insisted upon my trying them. They helped me as nothing else has done." For sale by all dealers.

WELL GULPS SECOND MAN

Prentice, Wis., July 14.—Axel Wiken and Henry Riedel, two young men of the town of Prentice, are buried at the bottom of an 82-foot well on the farm of Peter Lund, three miles east of this city. Wiken was imprisoned under 40 feet of earth a month ago today, while working at the bottom of the well.

Relief work has been going on night and day since that time, a new shaft being dug 16 feet from the orignal, but this also caved in at a depth of 70 feet. A larger excavation was then commenced around the original well and the body of Wiken was found standng upright in the bucket that had been used for raising the dirt, at a depth of about 60 feet.

While workng to remove the remains Riedel was imprisoned by the caving in of the shaft under about 30 feet of earth. The last excavation was six feet squre and curbed with three-inch hemlock plank. An expert mining engineer will now be employed in an effort to recover both bodies.

LINED WITH SPIDER WEBS.

One Has to Cut One's Way Through the Roads of Paraguay.

The roads of Paraguay are about five yards wide throughout, and the trees meet overhead at a height of some eighteen feet, thus forming a tunnel of very uniform dimensions. In the clear parts of the tunnel—that is, where it is not choked up with the giant nettle—it is full from roof to ground of enormous spiders' webs stretching clear across the road, the big trees usually being chosen as anchorages and the total clear span being thus more like eight yards than five.

The main cables or framework of the nets are composed of five or six strands of thick yellow web and are almost as strong as cotton thread. The rest of the net is made up of single and double strands of the same stout material, which is as sticky as it is strong. Every yard or so one of these nets extends across one's path, making it necessary to hold a cutlass or a fairly stout stick at arm's length in front as one walks.

The makers of these troublesome but picturesque obstructions are large, highly colored, gaudy looking spiders with bodies that look as if they were about to explode, they are so blown out and glossy.

At intervals in some more open space where the sky is visible one will notice a different kind of web, far more irregular in shape, but far larger than the others. Not content with the space available in the tunnel, these webs are stretched in complicated mazes from the ground to the very tops of the surrounding trees, with clear spans frequently twenty or thirty yards from one tree to another.

From these main cables smaller ones extend to the ground—a drop of fifteen or twenty yards—and the spaces in between are filled up with a mass of webs spun in all directions.—Wide World Magazine.

SIRIUS, THE DOG STAR.

It Was Given Its Canine Name by the Superstitious Egyptians.

The giant sun, the bright star Sirius, is now called the "dog star" from the very ancient and curious custom of personification. The great nations of remote antiquity personified every activity of nature—that is, compared them to living men or animals.

They didn't know a thing of any law of nature, so they said that motion is caused by living animals, because only animals have the inscrutably mysterious power of moving themselves. No wonder the ancients were astonished to see an animal move itself. And the wonder has vastly increased now, for the ablest scientific man cannot possibly see how an animal is able to move.

The overflowing of the Nile was the chief event in all of Egypt. Without this pouring of water over the land once each year, the valley would be a desert. The Egyptians at a certain period in their long history noticed that when they first saw the star Sirius early in the morning before sunrise the Nile river began to rise and pour over the banks. They personified Sirius as a watchdog, watching the sun and the Nile and the land of Egypt, its people, destiny and harvests.

The Egyptian name of the Nile was Siris, and the faithful dog watching in the sky was finally named Sirius. Centuries later their horrible religion taught that it was necessary to murder or sacrifice a dog to the star Sirius to secure its aid in growing grains and herds. This terrible habit of slaughtering animals to propitiate imaginary gods descended to the Greeks and Romans. The Romans named the stars near Sirius the constellation Canis Major (the great dog).—New York American.

Ministers and Ambassadors.

The first minister plenipotentiary from the United States to England was John Adams. Thomas Pinckney of South Carolina became the first minister to England under the constitution. The United States continued to be represented by ministers until 1893, when Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware became the first American ambassador to the court of St. James. The first British minister to the United States was George Hammond, who was appointed in 1791. Lord Pauncefote became the first British ambassador to Washington in 1893.

He Fell Right In.

His Wife—I met our maid Anna just now on the street and she pretended not to see me. Her Husband—You ought to point out to Anna the impropriety of such conduct. His Wife—But how can I? You see, she had another girl with her, and it was quite evident she didn't want her friend to know she was working for a woman who wore a two dollar and fifty cent hat.—New York Post.

Peace With a Punch.

"Here, what's all this row about?" asked the copper breathlessly.

"Why, this woman is collecting money for the peace society, and when I refused to contribute she knocked me down," explained the meek looking man.—Buffalo Express.

Great Scheme.

"How's your play?"

"A great success. My creditors are all coming to see if I am making money, and through their patronage I am."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE
And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.
The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."
Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.
If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

E. J. FLEMING,

D. D. D. In Hospitals; Standard Skin Cure
How many hospital patients, suffering the frightful itch, the raw scorching pain of skin disease, have been soothed to sleep by a soothing fluid washed in by the nurse's hands?
That fluid is the famous D. D. D. prescription for eczema.
THE SUPERVISING NURSE of one of our prominent Catholic institutions (name of nurse and institution on application), writes regarding a patient. "The disease had eaten her eyebrows away. Her nose and lips had become disfigured. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing, her nose and face have assumed their natural expression."
How many eczema sufferers are paying their doctors for regular treatment and are being treated with this same soothing, healing fluid?
DR. GEO. E. RICHARDS frankly writes "D. D. D. is superior to anything I have ever found. Soft and soothing, yet a powerful agent."
To do the work, D. D. D. Prescription must be applied according to directions given in the pamphlet around every bottle. Follow these directions—and see!
And it certainly takes away the itch at once—the moment the liquid is applied. The skin is soothed—calmed—so thoroughly refreshed—delightfully cooled.
All druggists of standing have the famous specific as well as the efficient D. D. D. Skin Soap.
But we are so confident of the merits of this prescription that we will refund the purchase price of the first full size bottle if it fails to relieve your case. You alone are to judge.

DEATH FROM STARVATION.

Dispatches from Paris announce the death of Alice Norton, an American, the daughter of a New England manufacturer, and once a Providence, R. I., society belle, who, fifteen years ago, was one of the best known figures in the restaurant and boulevard life of Paris and was equally well known in New York. She died last week in a Montmartre garret from starvation. She was considered the most beautiful woman in the French capitol, and lunched at a famous cafe near the Madeleine. She retained her beauty to the end. Her tall, slender figure and gray hair were familiar in American restaurants, where in later years she usually called only for the purpose of discovering some acquaintance of her more prosperous era, from whom she might obtain a loan.

Large cities have a stronge fascination for some people. they simply cannot get away from them when once ensconced. The artificial life of such centres is as a loadstone, and carries out an old saying that some people would rather be hanged in certain places than die a natural death anywhere else.

All large cities have their percentages of such folk, men and women, who soon reach the end of their rope and find themselves far away from homes and friends to be jostled by the uncaring crowds which knife each other in crowded streets.

A famous English literary character, who often retired in his early days to his crust and garret, tells us of the cold streets of London, yet he preferred them to the log fire in a rural home.

A saying in the old English Reader, studied by our grandfathers, is to the point: "True happiness is of a quiet nature, an enemy to pomp and noise," and those far from the madding crowd are better off, though they may not realize it.

RESUSCITATION OF PALESTINE.

The Turkish government has issued orders against posting notices in Hebrew upon the dead walls of cities of Palestine. The action is believed to indicate concern on the part of the authorities over the remarkable revival of the Hebrew language. Although up to thirty years ago classic Hebrew was not ordinarily used by the Jews of Palestine, it is now the common language of tens of thousands of people in Palestine. In the medium of instruction in many schools and newspapers, street car signs and shop papers signs are in Hebrew.

The revival of the pure Biblical tongue has been, in a measure, forced on the Palestine Jews for reasons apart from the sentimental. Immigration from other parts of the world, particularly of the 13,000 Yiddish-speaking Jews from Russia some years ago, made a common means of communication necessary. Yiddish is not understood by the natives here, while all Jews know something of Hebrew.

The orthodox of the Jewish race have been praying with their windows opened toward Jerusalem since the city was destroyed by Titus in the first century of the Christian era. They have ever believed that the glowing forecasts in their scriptures will be fulfilled eventually—that the time will come when Jerusalem will not be trodden down by the Gentiles. During the last quarter of a century there have been happenings which have encouraged those who have been hoping for the realization of such dreams. The Zionist movement of recent years has especially revived their hopes.

Nebuchadnezzar changed the names of Daniel and his friends in the hope that they would forget their origin and attempts were made to frustrate the building of the walls of Jerusalem after the return of the race from the captivity in Babylon. They proved futile, as will doubtless the attempts of the Turks to prevent the Hebrew tongue from being spoken by the sons of Abraham.

At a Corporation Court of the City of Alexandria, continued and held at Courthouse of the said City on Thursday, July 9th, 1914.

Present, Hon. Louis C. Barley, Judge.

Why Suffer from Rheumatism?

When relief from rheumatic pains may be had at so small a cost it is surprising that anyone should fail to avail himself of it. Joseph Copparelli, Canastota, N. Y., suffered intensely with pains due to rheumatism in his limbs for a long time A friend told him about Chamberlain's Liniment. One application relieved him wonderfully, and a few days' treatment effected a cure. Many others have found quick relief by applying this liniment. For sale by all dealers.

THE CONVICT SHIP "SUCCESS."

There arrived in our harbor yesterday, and made fast at Cameron street wharf the strangest craft in the world.

This is the old British Convict Ship "Success," now the only survivor of the "Ocean Hells" as the ships of England's fleet of felon transports were called in the first half of the last century.

Built in 1790, at Moulmain, by the old Pagoda "looking eastward to the sea," the "Success" is now 123 years old. No ship of anything like her great age today is seaworthy, yet this old hulk under her own sail has succeeded in crossing the Atlantic, her time of 96 days, however, creating no new record.

Massively built throughout of solid Burman teak, the "Success" was first launched as an armed East India merchantman with beautiful brass guns bristling from her sides and fitted handsomely for the reception of princes, nabobs and the wealthy traders of the Orient, whose goods, spices, aromatic teas, ivories, jewels and other costly luxuries she carried over the seven seas to the ends of the earth. Her tonnage is 589, and she is 135 feet long and 29 feet beam. Her solid sides are two feet six inches at the bilge, and her keelson is a solid teak baulk of tremendous thickness, with sister keelsons little less massive. Her square cut stern and quarter galleries stamp her at once with the hall-mark of antiquity, and her bluff bow shows that she could never have distinguished herself for a high rate of speed.

Cells, strong and gloomy, were constructed on the 'tween and lower decks, and in these the most desperate criminals that England and Australia could produce were "accommodated." The lower deck was devoted to the very worst type of convicts, and only prisoners of the better class were confined in the 'tween deck cells. "Refractory" prisoners were immured throughout the long days and nights in the noisome dungeons in the dark depths of the lower hold and were never allowed on shore on any pretext. Their only exercise and opportunity of enjoying a breath of fresh air was restricted to one hour in every twenty-four, when they were marched from stem to stern upon deck. The exceptionally high bulwarks prevented them seeing aught but the strip of blue Australian sky directly overhead; the white-winged gulls, as they glided over the vessel, seeming to mock the prisoners in their heavy chains. From long confinement in the dark cells the eyesight of the convicts was generally ruined.

The corner cells on either side of the lower deck are the dreaded "Black Holes," in which prisoners, who had ben guilty of some breach of discipline or fractious conduct, were punished by solitary confinement lasting from one to one hundred days.

In 1857 the disclosures that had been made of the brutal and inhuman treatment meted out to prisoners created a fierce outcry in Australia amounting almost to revolt against the English Government and resulted in the abandonment of the hulk system. For some years later—from 1860 to 1868—the "Success" was used as a women's prison, then she became successively a reformatory ship and ammunition store, and later all the prison hulks were ordered to be sold on the express condition that they were to be broken up, and their associations lost to the recollections of the residents of Melbourne. By a clerical error, however, that condition did not appear upon the terms of sale of the "Success." Hence she became the only British convict ship afloat.

In 1912 she attempted what was perhaps the greatest feat in all her remarkable career—that was to make the passage across the Atlantic under her own sail, unaccompanied by tug or steamer. The shipping world was aghast when the voyage was projected. Impossible, said every man that ever sailed the seas in ships, that this century and a quarter old hulk could brave the spring hurricanes of the western ocean. Lloyds refused her insurance, the British Government refused her clearance and sea-captain after sea-captain refused her command but finally a stout old skipper, Captain John Scott, and a valiant crew of adventurous souls under the command of Captain D. H. Smith, the owner hoisted sail and took her out of Glasson Dock on the very day that the ill-fated "Titanic" sailed from the port of Southampton. For 96 days she battled bravely, her staunch old hull defying the crashing gales and mountainous seas and at length made port in Boston harbor with a crew, worn out and half starved but bravely triumphant to the applause of press and public, who likened the splendid feat to the epoch-making voyage of Christopher Columbus.

CURE FOR OLD AGE.

A GOOD WAY TO CHEAT DEATH.

The Prescription Is: Mix Open Air and a Hobby, Shake Well and Take as Many Hours a Day or Night as Possible—This Cure for Old Age.

Old age can be cured. The prescription is a simple one. Mix open air and a hobby, shake well and take as many hours a day as possible. No one begins to age until he is bored, and the first gray hair comes when a man suddenly thinks to himself, "What's the use?" Then is the time when a hobby makes life interesting again.

There was an official on one of our great railroads who was retired at seventy. "He'll die now," said his friends kindly. But he didn't. Instead, he became interested in the wild flowers, and now he is too busy in looking for the ram's head orchid and trying to find a new station for the hart's tongue fern and tramping around in the woods and fields in all kinds of weather even to think of dying. Anyway, he would not have time until he's finished his monograph on the willows of the United States.

There is a woman in Baltimore, seventy-two years old, who years ago sought to forget a great sorrow by learning the butterflies. Her city home has become a rendezvous for entomologists all over the world and houses a famous collection. While her contemporaries are dozing their lives away in caps and easy chairs she spends her summers in the mountains and her winters in Florida with a butterfly net. Twenty-one new species to identify are her contribution to the lepidoptera, and she plans to live until the last goal of an entomologist is reached—the using of her single initial species.

An octet of men in Philadelphia, all well past their threescore years, some in business and some foot loose, belong to the same ornithological society. They are afield every day of the year, rain or shine, to watch the ever changing bird life. In the spring each prepares migrant sheets showing the arrivals of the hundred odd migrants that pass through every place every year. There is great rivalry as to who shall score the most warblers or identify the largest number of birds in one day. At present writing the oldest of the eight holds a record of seventy-five different kinds of birds seen or heard in one day between dawn and dark—one for each year of his age and one to grow on.

A man in North Carolina by the sudden death of two of his family was left alone with but little money, no friends and the cheering dictum from his doctor that he had only a year to live. To while away the few months still left to him as well as to help out his household expenses he took up the study of edible mushrooms. At the end of a year in the open he notified his indignant physician that he had become too much interested in his hobby to confirm his diagnosis. In ten years he has discovered, classified and tested 170 kinds of edible mushrooms and has published a book which is one of the standard authorities for mushroom eaters of the world.

Another septuagenarian attributes his long life to the stars. Confined to business during the day, he sought the open air at night and began to study the changing constellations and the perplexing planets. Then he found that with an opera glass he could detect their colors and reveled in the blue light of Vega, the green glare of Sirius, the rose red of Aldebaran, the flame color of Betelguese and the strange shades of other gleaming sky kings. Finally he bought a small telescope. Now, at seventy, he has published a monograph on the double stars, besides a quaint little star guide that has interested thousands in his hobby.

None of the nature studies requires much money or time. A cheap illustrated guidebook, an opera glass and, if possible, some walks and talks with an expert, and you will learn almost immediately to identify a score or more of flowers, or birds, or constellations, or mushrooms, and you will have found a hobby on which you may ride away from Death.

Try it, young men, lest you grow old. Try it, old men, before you grow tired. Escape into the open from these narrow indoor days and learn the way to where the wild folk dwell. In their land you will find the help of the hills and hope wide as the world, and strength, and youth, and happiness. Try it.—Samuel Scoville, Jr., in Lippincott's.

Across the Atlantic.

The narrowest part of the Atlantic is between Brazil and Guinea, where the ocean is only about 1,800 miles wide. From Newfoundland to Ireland, the narrowest breadth north of the equator, is nearly twice as far. From New York to the nearest point of France is nearly three times as far.

The Lesser Evil.

"It's Mr. Borcleigh. I think I'll send him word I'm out."

"Won't the still, small voice reproach you?"

"Oh, yes, but I'd rather listen to the still, small voice than to Mr. Borcleigh's blosphy [illegible]"

"The most beautiful thing in all the future is the inertia which springs from satisfaction in the past."

Quick on the Trigger, With a Snap-Shot Eye!

THE crack trapshooter has to be a man with steady nerves and muscles absolutely under control—always ready for the sudden jerk of a string to bring the gun into place and bring down his clay bird. This means trained, not to the instant but to the split-second. He takes no chances with his nerves.

We present the names of some of these crack shots who smoke Tuxedo. They like to smoke; but they take no chances on a tobacco that might "throw them off."

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

is purposely made to give you all the benefits of the highest grade smoke. It is made from the very finest tobacco Kentucky grows—ripe, mellow, sweet and mild old Burley, aged right up to perfection-day. Then treated by the original "Tuxedo Process," which takes out the sting, makes Tuxedo smoke cool and slow, and guarantees that it cannot bite your tongue.

Tuxedo has had many imitators; none has ever equalled it in sheer quality and smoking-value.

This wonderful vessel has made history through three centuries. She marked the beginning and end of England's monstrous penal system. She has held lurid horrors and dreadful iniquities beside which even the dreadful stories of the Black Hole of Calcutta and Spanish inquisition pale into insignificant. She, the Convict Ship "Success" rides the waters today Alexandria harbor as she did when she sailed the seven Seas in the year 1790 A. D. During the time this floating prison and old s ea veteran was on exhibition in Europe she was visited by over 15,000,000 people including practically every reigning king queen, prince or ruler of those countries all of whome testfiy in the visitors' book ((now shown abord) as to the wonrerful strides which have been made in prison reform during th past one hundred years.. Capt. D .H. Smth,

Convict Ship "Success"

My Dear Sir: Your ship and her equipment of old instruments of punishment bring to mind as nothing else could the social conditions which we have outgrown during the past 100 years. I am very glad that the people of Massachusetts have had this opportunity to see the strides that have already been made towards bttr mthods of treatment, for I think your exhibition will act as an added incentive towards the further improvement of our institutional methods. I think you are doing a great public service by the exhibition of these horrible and obsolete prison methods
